IDEAS

I am a research scientist and engineer but have always been drawn by artistic creativity and aesthetics. I think that is why my passion of toy photography and LEGO® models is such a great match. My passion for building with LEGO bricks, combined with toy photography, makes me feel like an artist telling stories through my models and photos. My entry to the LEGO Ideas competition was also inspired by a story of an adventure that my wife and I still have to experience. We have done a lot of traveling and living abroad, but we have never had the opportunity to go on a sailboat and set sails for the horizon. The sailboat is named “Éloïse” after our daughter, so this is really a celebration of us as a family, which makes it so much more than just a sailboat to me: it’s a dream-come-true, like a perfect holiday. Whenever I look at my model on my desk, I begin to dream of cruising around exotic destinations, to the sound of the ocean and the dolphins playing around the sailboat. These are the stories that I want to tell with my models, and I am just so happy and honored that this exact story received so much support from the community. I am so proud of winning the competition, because when you are doing something so important to you, you easily doubt your own skills and ideas. There are so many great builders out there in the community, so it was quite intimidating submitting an entry for the first time. I could not have done this without my wife's support, feedback and inspiration, so without her, I am not sure I would ever have entered the competition. My best piece of advice for any builder of tomorrow, who wants to join a LEGO Ideas competition, is to find a concept and hold on to it. When working with a creative challenge, too often people start over instead of refining and improving the initial concept they felt inspired by. Show and share your work with friends and family, because you will need their feedback, ideas, knowledge and inspiration, to create something that is truly meaningful and impressive. And when doing something that you are truly proud of, it is also important to have someone to share it with.

Je suis chercheur scientifique et ingénieur, mais j'ai toujours été attiré par la créativité artistique et l'esthétique. Je crois que c'est pour cette raison que ma passion pour la photographie de jouets et les modèles LEGO® font si bon ménage. Ma passion pour la construction avec des briques LEGO, combinée avec la photographie de jouets, me fait sentir comme un artiste qui raconte des histoires à travers ses modèles et ses photos. Ma contribution au concours LEGO Ideas a également été inspirée par l'histoire d'une aventure que ma femme et moi n'avons pas encore vécue. Nous avons beaucoup voyagé et vécu à l'étranger, mais nous n'avons jamais eu l'occasion d'embarquer à bord d'un voilier et de mettre les voiles. Le voilier porte le nom de notre fille, « Éloïse », donc c'est une véritable célébration de notre famille, ce qui en fait bien plus qu'un voilier pour moi : c'est un rêve devenu réalité, comme des vacances idylliques. Chaque fois que je regarde mon modèle sur mon bureau, je commence à rêver de destinations exotiques, du son de l'océan et de dauphins folâtrant autour du voilier. Ce sont les histoires que je veux raconter avec mes modèles, et je suis tellement heureux et honoré que cette histoire précise ait reçu un tel soutien de la communauté. Je suis si fier d'avoir remporté le concours, car lorsque l'on réalise quelque chose qui nous est si cher, il est facile de douter de nos compétences et de nos idées. La communauté compte tellement de grands constructeurs, donc c'était assez intimidant pour moi de prendre part à la compétition pour la première fois. Je n'aurais pas pu le faire sans le soutien, la rétroaction et l'inspiration de ma femme; sans elle, je crois que je n'aurais jamais osé m'inscrire. Mon meilleur conseil pour les constructeurs de demain qui désirent participer à un concours LEGO Ideas, c'est de trouver un concept et de s'y accrocher. Lors d'un défi créatif, les gens ont trop souvent tendance à tout recommencer au lieu de retravailler et de peaufiner le concept initial qui les a inspirés. Montrez votre travail à vos amis et à votre famille, car vous aurez besoin de leurs commentaires, de leurs idées, de leurs connaissances et de leur inspiration pour créer quelque chose de vraiment significatif et impressionnant. Et lorsque vous réalisez quelque chose dont vous êtes vraiment fier, il est important d'avoir quelqu'un avec qui le partager.

Soy investigador científico e ingeniero, pero siempre me siento atraído por la creatividad artística y la estética. Creo que es por eso por lo que mi pasión por la fotografía de juguetes y los modelos LEGO® da tan buen resultado. Mi pasión por construir con bricks LEGO, sumada a la fotografía de juguetes, me hace sentir como un artista que cuenta historias a través de sus modelos e imágenes. Mi participación en la competencia de LEGO Ideas está inspirada también en la historia de una aventura que mi esposa y yo tenemos aún pendiente por vivir. Hemos viajado mucho y pasado mucho tiempo viviendo en el extranjero, pero nunca hemos tenido la oportunidad de embarcarnos en un velero y navegar hacia el horizonte. El velero se llama Éloïse por nuestra hija, así que se trata de un verdadero homenaje a nuestra familia, lo que hace que sea mucho más que un simple barco para mí: es un sueño hecho realidad; como unas vacaciones perfectas. Cada vez que miro el modelo en mi escritorio, empiezo a soñar con navegar hacia destinos exóticos, con el sonido del océano y los delfines jugando alrededor del velero. Esas son las historias que quiero contar con mis modelos, y me siento muy feliz y honrado de que esta, en particular, haya recibido tanto apoyo de la comunidad. Estoy muy orgulloso de haber ganado la competencia porque, cuando haces algo que es tan importante para ti, es fácil dudar de tus propias habilidades e ideas. Hay muchos constructores fantásticos en la comunidad, así que me intimidaba un poco presentar una solicitud por primera vez. No podría haber hecho todo esto sin el apoyo, los comentarios y la inspiración de mi esposa, así que, de no ser por ella, tal vez no hubiera llegado a participar en la competencia. Mi mejor consejo para cualquier futuro constructor que quiera participar en una competencia de LEGO Ideas es que encuentre un concepto y se aferre a él. Al trabajar en un desafío creativo, la gente tiende con frecuencia a volver a empezar, en lugar de refinar y mejorar el concepto original por el que se sintieron inspirados. Hay que mostrar y compartir el trabajo con amigos y familiares porque se necesitan sus comentarios, ideas, conocimientos e inspiración para crear algo que sea realmente significativo e impresionante. Y, cuando haces algo de lo que te sientes realmente orgulloso, también es importante tener a alguien con quien compartirlo.
